To Whom it may concern,

As the Director of the Kyungpook National University International Writing Center (IWC), I am writing in regards to Alexandre Maupas and his internship as an English tutor from September 5, 2022, to December 9, 2022.

Alexandre worked part time, typically 12 hours a week, in our English speaking and writing programs, guiding and facilitating students in one-on-one tutoring sessions, both in-person and online. He demonstrated strong professionalism, personal attention, and genuine concern toward each of his students, quickly developing a rapport to make them feel comfortable, which made him a very popular and effective tutor.

Furthermore, Alexandre was a great team player, always willing to help out whenever there were projects or other tasks that required attention, such as helping to coordinate mentoring schedules and participating in event planning and execution. He is outgoing and has a positive personality with a great sense of humor, which helped create a warm rapport among all the IWC staff as well as positive experiences for all of his students. Alexandre is great at adapting to new or unforeseen circumstances and managing his appointments, which helped him to successfully deal with the daily complexities of scheduling and record keeping, and thereby also helping maintain the IWC's high standards of service and quality.

In sum, Alexandre has the enthusiasm, personality, and diligent work ethic that make him an excellent addition to any organization or educational team. For these reasons I highly recommend him for your program, without reservation. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like any further information regarding Mr. Alexandre Maupas.

Respectfully,

Chad Walker
